Sunday Brunch Olive Garden

Well, it was time again for our yearly ration of pasta. Dave Hjortnaes, organized and hosted our outing to the Olive Garden on 76th street. We met as the doors opened at 11am. The restaurant manager placed us in a separate room. Maybe we looked like trouble. Anyway, we had time to find out what each other was doing, hear complaints about winter hanging on, when will the first Model T come out, etc. The waiters took our orders and brought them out quickly. The food ranged from bread sticks, soup, salad, and a variety of pasta dishes. It was difficult to leave and still be hungry, there was plenty of food. As the meal ended, Dave gathered our attention and presented a few attendance prizes. Dave asked everyone to guess a number and the closest guess to Dave's number won. Dave gave out a few personally made wood working projects. Lance Pauley also provided a Racine Kringle. Ross Arnold guessed the winning number and Kringle. More pictures on page 13.
