Neighborhood Tour

Saturday, August 29, John Gelfer and Dave Hjortnaes went on a tour together. The tour started at Sendik's, across the street from Maxfield's Pancake House in Fox Point. We drove up Port Washington Road to Lion's Den Park in Grafton. This is a nice little park on Lake Michigan. It has two trails. One along the bluff and another inland that is more of a nature trail. Great views of Lake Michigan especially on a sunny day in the 70's. We stayed far enough from the edge so neither one of us fell in the lake. With the high water and all the erosion, it is definitely a cliff hanger of a walk if you get too close.

At the end of the walk there is a set of steps (about 70) that takes you down to the beach. Here you can play in the sand or skip rocks in the lake. There were a number of rock piles put together by visitors to the beach. One dog seemed to be afraid of the waves. She would start to go in the water and then back off. Barely got her toes wet. I wasn't watching close enough and one wave got inside my (Go to P15)
