SUNSET PLAYHOUSE "Something Rotten"

Did you ever want to read Shakespeare? Have you ever wanted a part in a Shakespeare play? We had 12 people attend the Sunset Playhouse production of 'Something Rotten' this last Sunday. Only there was a twist. Nick and Nigel Bottom needed to write a play to compete with Shakespeare. They consulted with a soothsayer who advised them to come up with something original. Something different. A musical about an 'Omelet'.

We were entertained with 2 and 1/2 hours of laughs, misadventures, and song & dance. Even Mr. Shakespeare found a way to sneak into the production about the musical play called 'Omelet'.

We then headed over to the Pallas Restaurant for some good food and conversation. Erv had a hamburger.

In attendance were Erv & Mickey, Mark & Marge, Dave & Heather, John & Mae, Gary & Nancy, and Jeff & Kathy.

We all look forward to what Sunset Playhouse will put on for us next year. The editor would like to thank Dave Hjortnaes for writing this article.
